It must also be said that reasonable classification implies action consistent with the legitimate interests of the state and it will not be disputed that these cannot be so broadly conceived as to bring them into hostility to exclusive federal power.

The authority to control immigration—to admit or exclude aliens—is vested solely in the federal government. The assertion of an authority to deny aliens the opportunity of earning a livelihood which is finally admitted to the state would be tantamount to the assertion of the right to deny them entrance and abode, for in ordinary cases they cannot live where they cannot work. And, if such a policy were permissible, the practical result would be that those lawfully admitted to the country under the authority of the acts of congress, instead of enjoying in a substantial sense and in their full scope the privileges conferred by the admission, would be segregated in such of the

CONVICT WANTS TO RAFFLE HORSEHAIR BRIDLE HERE

Inmate of Montana State Prison Writes to City Clerk Hughes, Whose Help He Seeks.

Frank Howard, a convict in Deer Lodge penitentiary, Montana, who says he has seen the error of his ways and wants to lead a straight life, and is trying to get together money with which to start anew when he gets out, has written to City Clerk Thomas Hughes, asking him to arrange for the raffle of a horsehair bridle. The letter, of peculiar interest, like all communications from men in prison cells, follows:

"Mr. Thomas Hughes,
City Clerk,
Albuquerque, New Mex.

"Dear Sir: In addressing this letter to you I feel as though I may be proceeding a little unadvised, as I fully realize how great is the liberty I take when addressing a person of your standing, and especially from a place of this kind. As the heading of the letter will inform you that I am an inmate of the Montana state prison, I have been serving a long sentence here for a crime that I was not wholly to blame for. And I am trying to make the best of my unfortunate position. And while here I have been trying to earn a little money so that when my time expires I can go out in the world and start life new. Few people realize that when one is released from prison he has a hard battle before him. I want to make good. And if you can see your way to help me I wish to assure that in the years to come your kindness shall never be forgotten. As all prisoners have from six p. m. till nine p. m. to work for themselves or study I have during my spare evenings after my day's work for the state was through made a fancy horsehair riding bridle. Trusting I would be able to get some one outside to raffle or sell it for me. It is in regards to this bridle that I take the liberty of addressing you. Asking if you will kindly undertake to dispose of it for me. The bridle is handsome piece of work, made of thousands of strands of different colored horsehair, worked into many beautiful designs strong and durable and will last for years. It only has to be shown to gain admiration.

"Mr. Hughes I am an infine stranger to you. In reading the Contracting and Engineering I came across your name. I thought I would speak to you in regards to my bridle. I am only a young man and I have seen my mistakes in life. I am sorry for being here in prison. It has been a lesson to me that I shall never forget, and in the future I shall strive hard to accompany the cause of me being here. For when no time expires I want to start life new by doing only what is right to do. Now Sir I hope you will look with kindness on this letter and if you will allow me I will send the bridle to you and if you will kindly undertake to dispose of it for me I shall be thankful for your kindness. Trusting you will treat me with a reply and best wishes to you. I remain etc.

"FRANK HOWARD,
Deer Lodge, Montana, Box 7."

TAKE "CASCARETS" IF HEADACHY, ELLIOTUS AND CONSTIPATED

Best for liver and bowels, bad breath, bad colds, sour stomach.

For a fibrous lax.

Stop headache, biliousness, constipation, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to the bad liver, delayed fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

It looks like a matter sluggish in the intestines instead of being cast out of the system is reabsorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Coughs immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons from the bowels.

A assured, tonight, will have straighten out by morning. They will wake up sleepier, brighter, free from sour, sluggish stools, more easily digest, stomach sweet and your liver fat loads regular for months.

J. B. Price of White Plains, New York, at the Commercial Bank, was interviewed by Louis Traub.

BIG TRIBUTARY INDUSTRY FOR ALBUQUERQUE AT PEREA

McGaffey Contracting Company's Lumber Mill Now Largest of its Kind in Active Operation in the State.

OVER THREE HUNDRED MEN ON PAYROLL

Mill Now Producing Fully Half as Much as Output of American Lumber Company Used to Cut.

The vast majority of Albuquereños people will be surprised to learn that a lumber manufacturing plant, directly tributary to this city, and producing fully half as much lumber as did the plant of the American Lumber company when in operation, has sprung up at Perea on the old Fort Wingate military reservation.

The McGaffey Contracting company, of which A. B. McGaffey of this city is president and controlling owner, has been operating a sawmill at Perea for some time, has been adding steadily to equipment and payroll and has been extending its market connections and general operations until it is now the largest native lumber manufacturing establishment in New Mexico.

Three hundred men are on the McGaffey Contracting company payroll at Perea, and practically every dollar of the payroll outlay is spent in Albuquerque. The operations are directed from the company offices in Commercial club building and the industry is as closely identified with Albuquerque in a business way as was the American Lumber company during its operating days.

The plant at Perea has a daily capacity of 75,000 feet and has been running at full capacity for some time. The company operates its own railroad, using two locomotives and several strings of log cars, while steam loading equipment is in use and the plant is up to the efficiency mark in every detail. The plant is a heavy producer of ties and mine props, being the largest producer of the latter in the southwest.

The camp at Perea is now clean and beautifully located. The surrounding scenery is splendid and the company's timber holdings surround it on all sides. The dwellings for employees extend along two streets leading away from the mill, and in addition to the company's community there is a Catholic church and a public school with an enrollment of students, all children of employees.

Mr. McGaffey this morning showed a set of photographs of the Perea plant, village and surrounding timber operations made last week by W. D. Walling, which give an interesting account of the extent of this new lumber industry, which is a considerable factor in taking the place of the forest industrial situation made vacant by the closing down of the American Lumber company. The pictures show a model lumber camp and one of the best stands of timber in the state.
